

Take your seat at the table

Assessment at Creative Australia

Creative Australia's purpose is to champion and invest in arts and creativity to benefit all Australians.

We invest using arm's-length decision making, industry advice and peer assessment. These have been guiding principles of our grants programs for the past 40 years.

What does it mean to be an assessor?

Commitment to First Nations arts and culture: we cherish and recognise the importance of First Nations arts and culture in all that we do.

You value the Arts: we need assessors who understand all parts of the creative process – from people who make work and coordinate tours and exhibitions, to arts workers who develop new markets and engage with audiences and communities.

Make connections: you will connect with people all over the country and broaden your networks.

Learn how grants are assessed: assessing grants makes you a stronger application writer and gives you an appreciation of the breadth of work happening across Australia.

Make a difference: everyone's unique background and voice makes a difference. It ensures decisions reflect contemporary Australia.

Register your interest in becoming an assessor today. assessment@creative.gov.au or call one of the Assessment team members to have a yarn 1800 226 912 creative.gov.au/become-an-assessor

Scan to learn more.

